Zabel wins third stage

SERAING, Belgium (AP) — Erik Zabel passed Lance Armstrong in the closing sprint to win the third stage of the Tour de France on Tuesday, leaving the Texan with a 10th-place finish. Armstrong, trying to win the Tour for the third straight year, led the main pack briefly in the final half-mile, but Zabel rode him from the left and stayed in front until the finish.

The German completed the 123.27 miles from Antwerp to northern Belgium to this southern town in 4 hours, 34 minutes and 32 seconds.

Zabel also won Sunday's stage and now has 10 stage victories in five Tours.

France's Emmanuelle Magnien was second Tuesday, followed by Italy's Stefano Garzelli.

Australia's Stuart O'Grady was credited with the same time and claimed the yellow jersey and the race's overall leader. Wauters finished more than 1/2 minutes behind Tuesday and relinquished the overall lead.

Armstrong, also credited with the same finishing time as the top riders, moved up from 11th place to seventh overall and beat O'Grady by 21 seconds.

Another American, Bobby Julich, is in sixth place.

MIDSEASON

two-year, $8 million deal at the start of the year. He got hurt and went to the minors where he rehabilitate — and hit .190.

Most ridiculous item of the year: Anything Mets manager Bobby Valentine says or does.

Comeback player of the year: Kerry Wood, Chicago. Two years ago, Wood destroyed his elbow. He has not only returned to pitch, he is once more the ace of the Cubs' staff.

World Series Picks: New York Yankees against (take your pick). Not that it matters, the Yankees will win again.
