THE BATTALION

Emmys will face changes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The third time will be the charm for this year's Emmy Awards ceremony, or the twice rescheduled show won't happen at all, producers said Tuesday.

The ceremony honoring television accomplishments was postponed from its Sept. 16 date because of last month's terrorist attacks. Organizers scuttled it again Oct. 7 when the United States began retaliatory strikes in Afghanistan.

The show is now scheduled to air Sunday night on CBS.

"There will be no more moving of the dates," said Bryce Zabel, chairman of the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences. "If there is (world) news to be heard, we will deal with it by simply going forward."

He said the event has changed dramatically each time it has been rescheduled.

Workers have hurried to rebuild sets to fit the Shubert Theatre, which seats only 1,800 people — compared to the 6,000-plus available at the original Shrine Auditorium venue.

Gary Smith, was brought in as executive producer to replace Don Mischer, who left to begin work on the opening and closing ceremonies at the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City.

The dress code has shifted from black-tie to business attire, host Ellen Degeneres has rewritten or dropped countless jokes, and moments planned to honor victims, heroes and survivors of the attacks have been restructured as news developments.

A segment featuring "NYPD Blue" star Dennis Franz introducing clips of firefighters and police officers rescuing people on Sept. 11 has been replaced.

"It has nothing to do with anyone's feeling that it's not without merit," Smith said.
