Safety firm to sign on Bonfire 2002

Texas A&M's Bonfire planning group is closer to a deal with a safety firm, officials say. The unnamed, licensed safety firm will be in charge of the planning Thursday or Friday. Steering Committee member Bryan Cole. A safety firm is necessary for the 2002 planners to ensure the planning is not plagued by settling with other safety firms. The planning group is still optimistic about the possibility of Bonfire in Fall 2002.

Federal grand jury indicts in anthrax

SAN ANTONIO Federal grand jury indicted William Oneal Holden, 51, on charges of mailing anthrax aimed at a feud. Holden, 51, was indicted with mailing a letter containing anthrax. Holden said the anthrax was a joke. Holden could face five years in prison and a $250,000 fine for the offense. He remains on $30,000 bond.
