Ags top EA Sports, 92-79

Leatherman leads A&M victory with 16 points

By TRUE BROWN
THE BATTALION

The Texas A&M men's basketball team finished its exhibition season with a 92-79 victory over the EA Sports Midwest All-Stars Wednesday night at Reed Arena.

The game was the final tuneup for A&M before beginning regular season play Monday night against George Washington University.

A&M won despite allowing 19 points off of 22 turnovers and having junior guard Bernard King, last season's scoring leader, score just nine points.

"I don't think we were very sharp tonight," said men's head basketball coach Melvin Watkins. "We'll get back on it and iron out some of the things we didn't do as good a job as we could have."

After swapping the lead seven times early in the game, the Aggies took a 16-15 lead on a pair of free throws by sophomore forward Thomas Ress with 13:37 remaining in the first half. A&M never trailed again.

The Aggies built their lead to 12 points later in the half after EA Sports guard Shaun Fountain was given a technical foul and senior guard Andy Leatherman hit both free throws.

Leatherman finished the night as the Aggies' leading scorer with 16 points and four three-pointers.

"I felt pretty good," Leatherman said. "The guys were hitting me while I was open. We did a good job all game of dumping the ball off to the open man."

EA Sports responded with its biggest scoring run of the night, scoring 11 straight to cut A&M's lead to one.

EA Sports guard Kelly McClure scored nine points during the run, including seven straight. McClure finished the night with 25 points as the game's leading scorer.

EA Sports kept A&M's lead in single digits for most of the second half.

"Defensively, we got beat off the dribble too much," Watkins said. "There were also times when we didn't rebound the ball well. We couldn't really create and get the game going in the direction we wanted it to."

Forward Sheldon Quarles and guard Titus Warmley, both graduates of the University of Texas, scored 11 and 10 points, respectively, for EA Sports.

A&M sophomore guard Michael Gardener scored in double digits for the second straight game for the Aggies, netting 13 points, adding eight rebounds and five assists.

The transfer from Garden City Community College in Senior guard Andy Leatherman passes to junior forward Brian Brown during A&M's 92-79 win over the EA Sports All-Stars Wednesday night.

Kansas also led A&M in minutes with 28.

Freshman guard Daryl Mason, a Bryan High School graduate, added 10 points for A&M, one of four Aggies in double figures.

"We've got a lot of scorers on the team," Gardener said. "We have a lot of guys who are capable of putting the ball in the basket."

The Aggies employed an anced attack against EA Sports, as everyone played was on the floor at least 10 minutes. A&M scored 48 points off the bench.

"We want to get everyone involved in the offense. We have guys who are capable of putting the ball in the basket," Watkins said.

Baylor, Newhouse searching for win

WACO, Texas (AP) — For all his receptions and touchdowns, Reggie Newhouse has never experienced a Big 12 victory.

Third-year Baylor coach Kevin Steele, the coach who recruited Newhouse, has not won a conference game either.

Saturday is their last chance to avoid extending their conference losing streak to 29 games.

The Bears (2-7, 0-7 Big 12) get that opportunity against another struggling team, Oklahoma State (2-7, 0-6).

"I don't care if I don't catch a single pass, winning is what's important," Newhouse said. "We know we can compete, but it's better to get that one in the win column."

Newhouse, who last year became the first Baylor receiver in 17 years with 40 catches, has 48 catches for 538 yards and seven TDs this season. His 95 career receptions rank third in Baylor history.

The last Big 12 victory for Baylor was 31-24 against Kansas on Oct. 10, 1998, a year before Steele and Newhouse arrived. The Bears are 0-23 in conference play under Steele, and have gone just 3-44 in the league's six seasons.

"It's not a monkey on our back," Steele said. "I can't describe how much I want to win for our players."

Steele and his players are well aware of what all a win Saturday would mean.

Besides breaking the conference losing streak, the Bears would avoid finishing last place in the South Division.

Oklahoma State wouldn't be the only team to overtake Baylor in the standings, but the Cowboys would still have a league game left. They will be the underdogs in their season finale against intrastate rival Oklahoma on Nov. 17.
