Southern Colorado State College and a master's degree in physics from Baylor University. Robinson graduated with a Ph.D. in petroleum engineering from A&M in 1974.

From 1975 to 1978, he worked as a reservoir engineer in Bakersfield, Calif., where he directed and managed all reservoir engineering, drilling, enhanced oil recovery and mining projects for the Joaquin Valley Operations.

Robinson has worked as a manager for Grace Petroleum Corporation in Oklahoma City from 1978 to 1979, where he managed the acquisition, development and sale of all enhanced recovery operations.

From 1981 to 1984, Robinson worked as a special projects coordinator for the Getty Research Center in Houston, where he coordinated all of the planning, budgeting, hiring and operations.

He also served as manager of reservoir engineering research, manager of international applications and technology transfer and general manager of the exploration and production technology department for Texaco Inc., from 1984 to 1989.

Since 1996, Robinson has been president of Texaco's technology division, where he was responsible for all of Texaco's research, development, engineering, information technology and technical applications worldwide.

"I have known him for several years and he is a good man for the job," said Larry D. Piper, undergraduate advisor of petroleum engineering.

Charles H. Bowman retired as department head on Nov. 12, when Robinson took over the position.

"I have every confidence that under him, we will see new and even more exciting accomplishments in the days to come," Bowman said.

RATE

isn't true here," said Kim Foutz, director of economic development.

The report also gave the Bryan-College Station workers high marks for productivity. "With these rates, it is hard to predict what that means for Bryan-College Station," Foutz said.

Houston, Bryan-College Station's nearest heavily populated city, had an unemployment rate in September of 5.6 percent and dropped in the month of October to 4.3 percent.

The highest unemployment rate in the state was 10.8 percent in the McAllen-Edinburg-Mission area, followed by Brownsville-Harlingen-San Benito area at 9.2 percent. El Paso had an 8.0 percent unemployment rate, Beaumont-Port Arthur stands at 7.4 percent and Sherman-Dennison had a rate of 6.3 percent.

"In this area, we are more diverse and definitely not seeing job losses," Mower said.

Loving Eyecare

Top 5 reasons it's time for your eye exam:

1. You sit in the front row and still have to squint
2. You haven't changed your contacts since school started
3. You get headaches even if you haven't been partying
4. You think that B/CS weather is always hazy
5. Your glasses are actually coming back into fashion
