Archery hosts regional tourney

The Texas A&M archery team will be a regional host of the 2002 Indoor National Tournament this weekend at the Student Rec Center Champions Room on West Campus.

Sophomore Mary Zorn and junior Kristin Milchanowski will be looking to defend the collegiate crowns they won a year ago.

Zorn set a new collegiate indoor compound record with a score of 1,156. Milchanowski defeated teammate Lorinda Cohen on the recurve side 1,091-1,074. A&M junior Dawn Chudy is the 2000 indoor national champ as well.

From a team standpoint, Texas A&M defeated James Madison 3,237 to 3,070 in recurve and 3,373 to 3,305 in compound to sweep both national crowns. Each school has won compound title each since A&M went varsity two years ago, while the Aggies have swept both recurve titles.

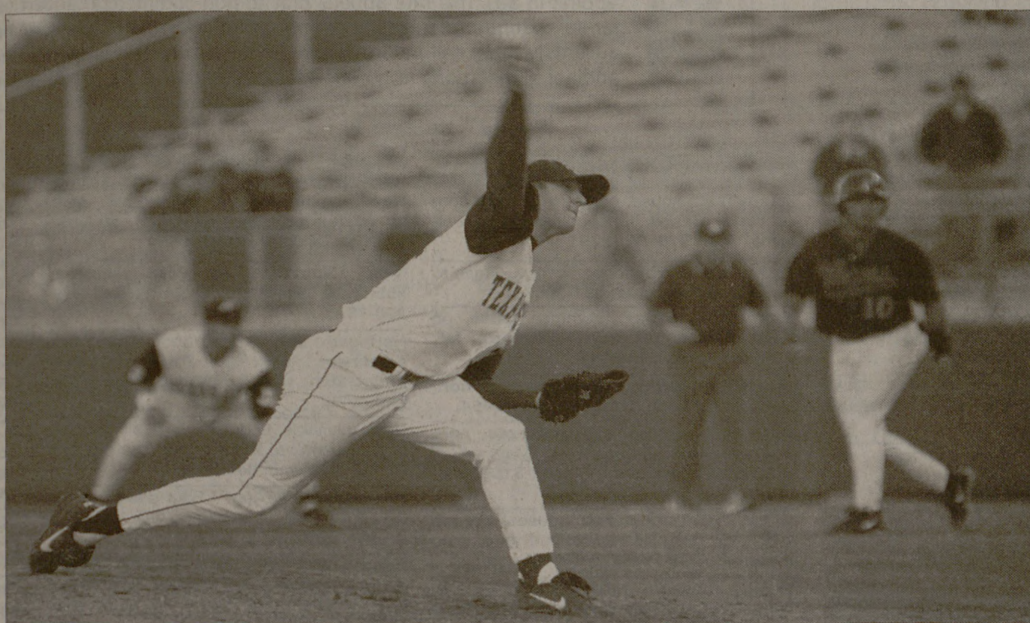

Competition is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. on Friday.

A majority of the A&M team, including Zorn, Chudy and Milchanowski, will compete at 6 p.m. on Friday.

The invitational tournament has start times of 8 a.m., noon, 5 and 9 p.m. on Saturday. Many of the A&M archers will compete in the 5 p.m. time slot.

Competition concludes on Sunday with 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. shooting times. Milchanowski and Zorn will close out their weekend in the 1 p.m. time slot.

With the impending cold and inclement weather, the No. 22 Texas Tech Red Raiders and the No. 17 Texas A&M baseball team will have to play its series in one less day.

In the Big 12 Conference opener for both teams at Olsen Field, the series will be shortened by one day in an attempt to fit the games in.

Instead of one game every day of the weekend, the Aggies (10-4) and Red Raiders (13-4) will play a doubleheader starting at 1 p.m. on Friday, with the final game of the series on Saturday at 2 p.m.

"Doubleheaders are harder to play but I don't think they're as hard to play if you have good players as they are if you have 30 degree chill factors," said A&M head coach Mark Johnson. "I think we're doing the right thing. It makes it uncomfortable for the fans to have to adjust but I think there's nothing we can do about it. We're trying to beat the weather."

The Aggies hope the cold weather will not carry over onto their bats as they look to shake off some of the dust that accumulated during the Continental Express Baseball Classic last weekend.

Needing only one win in two games to take the tournament championship, the Aggies laid an egg on Monday, losing both games. They managed 15 hits in the two games, but could only push across one run.

A&M will look to shrug off that

No. 18 Aggies host Arizona

THE BATTALION

Cold winds and freezing rain may be the only thing that can cool down the No. 18 Texas A&M women's tennis team this weekend.

The Aggies (8-1, 2-0) are coming off a strong weekend against Missouri and Iowa State to open up Big 12 Conference play and would like to continue their dominance today against the Arizona Wildcats.

"Arizona is going to be a tough one," said A&M head coach Bobby Kleinecke. "It is very similar to playing a school like TCU or LSU, which we won 4-3 in both matches."

The Wildcats, who would like to begin a hot streak of their own, are looking for their first win of the season over a top-25 opponent this weekend against the Aggies.

After getting beat by No. 11 UCLA and No. 15 USC, the Wildcats have their eyes set on knocking off the No. 18 Aggies.

"We are looking forward to playing at A&M this coming Friday," said Arizona head coach Vicky Maes. "A&M is a strong team, and we expect a hard battle. Our girls love competing, and we are ready for the challenge."

The Aggies are hoping to have their full compliment of players as Kleinecke will have to decide Friday whether sophomore Jessica Roland will play.

Roland, No. 88, suffered a sprained ankle during match point on Sunday against Iowa State and has received treatment for the injury this week.

"She is questionable," Kleinecke said. "She is a tough one though and she thinks that she can do it, but we will wait and see on Friday morning."

"[The ankle] is feeling
