6-4, 6-7, 1-0 (10-8). "It feels great to get such a tough win," Karlikova said. "After being out on the court so long, you don't want to lose those kind of matches, it feels great to come out of that with the win."

"It was a good match for both of them," McMurray said. "It was disappointing that we had to play the 10-point tiebreaker. I think both of them were a little bit tired though, and Alex did a good job of hanging in there."

Sophomore Jessica Roland and senior Majorie Terburgh both struggled in their matches as they fell to Tulsa, giving the Golden Hurricane its only two points of the night.

Junior Ashley Hedberg also made her match look easy as she defeated Mariana Barrios, 6-3, 6-2 on the No. 5 court.

Sophomore Roberta Spencer gets credit for the win by default due to Tulsa being shorthanded.

Although the Aggies came away with the win, A&M head coach Bobby Kleinecke says there is still a need for improvement from the team.

"You take away that default and this match is still not a gimme," Kleinecke said. "Maybe that played into our thoughts a little bit, but I thought Tulsa was a good, solid team."

"We'll take the win, but I'm a little disappointed in our intensity and hunger. We need to have more hunger at this point in the season."

The Aggies are not done with the Oklahoma schools as they travel to Oklahoma State and University of Oklahoma next week. The next home match for the Aggies comes on April 13 against Kansas State at 1p.m.

Kansas, OU land in Final Four

(AP) — If everything worked out according to the brackets designed by the NCAA basketball selection committee, there would be four top-seeded teams headed to next weekend's Final Four.

Sometimes it does, which is why Kansas and Maryland will meet in one national semifinal next Saturday at Atlanta.

Sometimes it doesn't, which is why Oklahoma and Indiana will play in the other.

No. 1-seeded Kansas and Maryland completed the Final Four Sunday. The Jayhawks eliminated No. 2-seeded Oregon 104-86 to win the Midwest Regional, and the Terrapins held off No. 2 Connecticut 90-82 in the East.

No. 5 Indiana won the South on Saturday, topping Kent State 81-69, and No. 2 Oklahoma captured the West by advancing with a 81-75 victory over No. 12 Missouri.

Kansas has the highest scoring team in the country and complements that with a strong inside game. Typical was the rout of overmatched Oregon.

Drew Gooden and Nick Collison each had double-doubles by early in the second half, and the Jayhawks outrebounded the Ducks 63-34. Kansas had 26 offensive rebounds, leading to 31 second-chance points.

Gooden had 18 points and 20 rebounds, and Collison added 25 points and 15 rebounds as the Jayhawks (33-3) simply wore down the Ducks.

Maryland (30-4) had all it could handle from Connecticut.

But in the end, the Terps used the senior savvy of Lonny Baxter and Juan Dixon — and one key shot by Steve Blake — to prevail.

Baxter had a season-high 29 points and Dixon added 27, many of them crucial, to defeat the Huskies. Blake's only field goal of the game, a 3-pointer that barely beat the shot clock in the final minute, opened a six-point lead and proved decisive.

Indiana made sure the Final Four would have a new look when the Hoosiers defeated defending champion Duke in the South semifinals.

That made the matchup against Kent State almost anticlimactic, but coach Mike Davis' team did not let down.

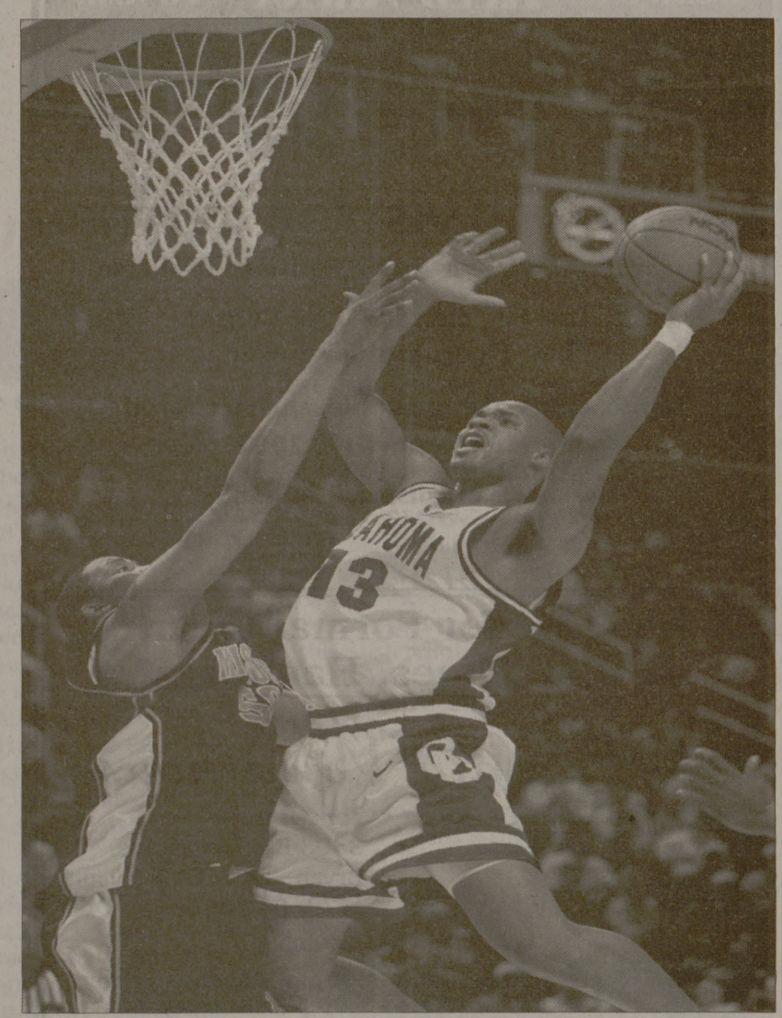

Indiana (24-11) hit 15 of 19 3-point attempts and opened a 20-point lead that Kent State could not overcome.

The victory was costly, though. Tom Coverdale turned his left ankle and was in a wheelchair for the net-cutting ceremony. His availability next weekend is questionable.

For Davis, in his second season succeeding Bob Knight, the trip to the Final Four is vindication.

He was hired amid much criticism, an assistant thrust into a high-profile head coaching job in the high-pressure Big Ten. But the players supported him, and after a 7-5 start this season, the team jelled at the most important time.

Oklahoma (31-4) used the pinpoint shooting of Hollis Price and Ebi Ere to defeat Missouri.

Missouri center Arthur Johnson tries to block Oklahoma's Aaron McGhee during OU's 81-75 victory over the Tigers to advance to the Final Four.

Price had 18 points, Ere 17. It was an emotional victory for Sooners coach Kelvin Sampson, whose father had brain surgery last week. For Oklahoma, it will be the first trip to the Final Four, since 1988.

474-386 to capture the NCAA women's swimming and diving championship. Texas A&M matched last year's finish by placing 26th.

"I was a little disappointed," said A&M head coach Steve Bultman. "We had done so well at the end of the season and great at conference. I was hoping we would come here and continue to do that."

Representing A&M on the swimming side at the championships were All-American senior Clara Ho, freshman Courtney Patterson and freshman Christina Thompson.

Ho ended her career at A&M with a 28th place finish in the 200-yard butterfly in a time of 2:00.75 on Saturday.

Patterson finished 20th in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 55.54. Her time of 2:04.87 in the 200-yard individual medley placed her 60th.

Thompson placed 33rd in the 400-yard individual medley with a season-best time of 4:23.30.

In the 100-yard backstroke Thompson finished 37th with a time of 56.59.

The freshmen duo of Patterson and Thompson finished 31st and 32nd, respectively, in the 200-yard backstroke.

Bultman now looks to next season as he finds new leaders on a young but talented team.

"We're always hoping to get top-20," Bultman said. "That definitely will be a reality next year."

with an RBI single that was followed by Stephenson's bases-loading single. Stephenson's single set the stage for Wong's grand slam.

"(Blair) fooled me with a changeup one pitch before that," Wong said. "I thought he was going to stay away with another one like that because of how bad I took the swing before, but he came back with a fastball out over the plate. I got it pretty good."

The Sooners got on the scoreboard in the fifth inning after Charlie Frasier led off the inning with a home run, only the second long ball Ballouli has given up this season.

Frasier was the first Sooner to get past second base in the game, and none advanced that far again until the eighth inning. Sophomore Kyle Parcus relieved Ballouli in the eighth inning, stifling the Sooners only real chance at a rally by forcing two fly outs and one strikeout to end the inning.

"Pitching is the name of the game. They had it and we didn't," said OU head coach Larry Cochell. "A&M pitched outstanding. I think (Ballouli) is one of the best pitchers in the Big 12. He's so competitive on the mound and will fight you tooth and nail."
