Hasek announces retirement after title

DETROIT (AP) — Dominik Hasek's career is complete. One of the most accomplished goaltenders in history will retire to the Czech Republic as a Stanley Cup champion. "The Dominator" made the announcement on Tuesday, nearly two weeks after topping off an impressive resume with the elusive title at the end of a one-season stop with the Detroit Red Wings.

"Winning the Cup has been everything I could ever ask for," Hasek said. "After 21 years of playing professional hockey at the highest level, I do not feel that I have enough fire in me to compete at the level that I expect of myself."

The announcement by the 37-year-old likely Hall of Famer follows that of coach Scotty Bowman, who retired the night the Red Wings won the Cup.

"He left from the top, and I can say the same thing," Hasek said. "It's a dream of many athletes."

Ray Bourque did the same in 2001, capping off a 22-year career with his only Stanley Cup. Bourque was traded by Boston, following 20 seasons with the Bruins, and helped Colorado to the title in his final NHL season.

It will be tough for Detroit to replace Hasek, but possible candidates include Toronto's Curtis Joseph, who becomes an unrestricted free agent on July 1 if he does not re-sign with the Maple Leafs.

Other high-profile goalies who could be unrestricted free agents are Boston's Byron Dafoe, the New York Rangers' Mike Richter and Dallas' Ed Belfour. The Stars have said they will not re-sign Belfour.

Captain Steve Yzerman, who will not offer his opinions on the coaching search, did suggest the best way to attract a new goalie. "You get on the phone and get your checkbook ready," Yzerman said.

Hasek sought a trade to Detroit because he was not satisfied with his six Vezina Trophies as the NHL's best goalie, two Hart Trophies as the league's MVP, and a gold medal with the Olympic champion Czech Republic at the 1998 Nagano Games.

"It was the best decision I made throughout my hockey career," Hasek said. Hasek wanted his name on the Cup and guaranteed he would wear the winged wheel on his chest for one season. The Red Wings gave him $8 million for one season, with another $1 million bonus for winning the Cup. The team held options for two additional years.

It all paid off June 13 when Detroit defeated Carolina in Game 5 to win the Cup.

Hasek dominated, retired on top

After winning the Stanley Cup with the Detroit Red Wings, Dominik Hasek retired Tuesday. As one of the NHL's best goalies, Hasek gave up 2.17 goals per game this season, compared with the 2.51 league average.

- ▶ Won Vezina Trophy (goalies), 1994-95, 1997-99, 2001
- ▶ Won Hart Trophy (MVP), 1997-98
- ▶ Won Lester B. Pearson Award (outstanding player), 1997-98

Germany

five previous appearances. But after beating Poland, Portugal, Italy and Spain, the "Red Devils" had hopes as large as the 40-by-60 yard South Korean flag unfurled during the national anthem. The team was hoping to become the first team not from Europe or South America to play in a World Cup final.

On Tuesday, the 52nd anniversary of the start of the Korean War, this "Land of the Morning Calm" certainly wasn't. Seven million of the 47 million population was out on the streets, watching on 40-giant televisions, and thousands staked out their sidewalk spaces more than eight hours in advance.

Ballock's goal only silenced the crowd in the stands for a few seconds. The fans, almost all dressed in red, then resumed singing and cheering, hoping in vain for the equalizer. South Korea's President Kim Dae-jung was among them.

When it was over, many of the South Korean players collapsed, but seconds later they bounced back up.

German goalkeeper Oliver Kahn, who had another standard night for his fifth shutout of the tournament, warmly wrapped an arm around 21-year-old forward Cha Doo-ri. Cha's father, Cha Bum-kun, is South Korea's most famous player, a former star in the top German league.

"We did our best," South Korea captain Hong Myung-bo said. "We have come this far due to the fervent support of our fans. We thank them from the bottom of our hearts."

Germany has never trailed in the tournament, outscoring opponents 14-1. While the Germans don't have a charismatic goal scorer or Juergen Klinsmann, they succeed nonetheless with their physical play and aerial dominance.

"I think we had a bit too much respect for the German team," said Guus Hiddink, the Dutch-born coach who has become a South Korean hero, mobbed wherever he goes.

South Korea's best chance was Lee Chun-soo's curling 15-yard shot in the eighth minute, but Kahn dived to his right, fully extended, and batted it away.
