Springsteen's Austin concert postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — Bruce Springsteen's Wednesday concert in Austin has been postponed because his sax player, Clarence Clemons, underwent surgery for a detached retina. E-Street's Clemons underwent surgery after Monday night's show in Houston, said Harris Cohen, spokesman for Shore Fire Media in New York City, Springsteen's representative. "The surgery was successful," Cohen said, adding he was not aware of 60-year-old Clemons having any previous eye trouble. The surgery was done in Houston, Cohen said. He declined to release details on the hospital or which eye was involved.

Cohen did not know a date for the rescheduled concert, but the Austin American-Statesman reported it had been set for March 2.

The status of other performances, including the next scheduled stop on the tour in Columbus, Ohio, on Saturday isn't yet known.

The band began the second leg of the U.S. tour in Dallas on Sunday.

Prince Harry named eligible bachelor

LONDON (AP) — He's still in high school, but Prince Harry has been named Britain's hottest date by the society magazine Tatler.

The 18-year-old prince, third in line to the throne, topped the magazine's annual list of eligible bachelors, released Tuesday.

"Harry has come of age this year, and he has a naughty but nice element to him. He's irreverent, mischievous and terrific looking," said the magazine's editor, Geordie Greig.

"He has just arrived on the London scene, and the girls are going absolutely berserk over him."

Harry, who's in his final year at Eton school near London, was caught drinking underage and smoking marijuana in January. When he turned 18 in September, he vowed to carry on the charity work begun by his mother, Princess Diana.

In second place on the list was 79-year-old artist Lucian Freud, whom the magazine praised for his "youthful genius." Hollywood star Gwyneth Paltrow, who is frequently in London, topped the women's list, followed by 21-year-old royal Lady Gabriella Windsor and model Sophie Dahl.

Aguilera justifies her 11 piercings

NEW YORK (AP) — Christina Aguilera wasn't allowed to get her ears pierced when she was a little girl.

Now, she has 11 piercings — in her ears, her nose, her lower lip, and some very private places.

The 21-year-old singer says she started getting piercings when she was on tour after her first album. Now, they're part of a whole new look that's far from her earlier squeaky-clean, Mickey Mouse Club image.

"If I was having a bad day, or if something was really getting me down — boy troubles, whatever — I wanted to go out and get a new piercing," Aguilera tells Rolling Stone magazine for its Nov. 14 issue — the cover of which shows her naked, covered only by a blue guitar and a pair of black boots.

"It was definitely a release for me. Something that made me feel a little more strong and empowered. Because it was something that had to do with me and no one else."

Aguilera's latest album, "Stripped," featuring the song "Dirrty" came out last week.

Jimmy Kimmel debuts ABC show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Kimmel won't be going to the Super Bowl with his new ABC late-night entertainment show.

"Jimmy Kimmel Live," scheduled to debut with a special Super Bowl Sunday, Jan. 28, will feature rotating co-hosts, Kimmel said Monday. The co-hosts were not announced.

The show, scheduled to air daily at 12:05 a.m. EST, is a renovated historical building on Hollywood Boulevard.

Kimmel, co-host and creator of Comedy Central's "Man Show," is taking over the time slot once held by Maher's "Politically Incorrect," which went off the air last week.

The talk show faltered after Maher, following the Sept. 11 attacks, referred to past U.S. military actions as cowardly. Maher said his comments had nothing to do with the decision to cancel "Politically Incorrect."

British comedian goes to Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — British comedian Eddie Izzard will make his Broadway debut on March 14 in "A Day in the Death of Joe Egg," Peter Nichols' comedy about a handicapped child and the strain she puts on her parents' marriage.

The play, first seen on Broadway in 1968, will be produced by the Roundabout Theatre Company at American Airlines Theatre. Preview performances begin March 14, with an opening night on March 15, through May 25.
