SPORTS IN BRIEF

Women's basketball team begins pre-season tonight

The Texas A&M women's basketball team will play its first of two exhibition games tonight when it squares off against RTU Klondika at 7 p.m. at Reed Arena. RTU Klondika is a foreign team from Riga, Latvia that is currently on a Texas college swing. So far, the team has faced Texas A&M-Corpus Christi, the University of Texas, TCU and Stephen F. Austin.

"They are a typical foreign team," head coach Peggy Gillom said. "They play zone, play give and go, and make good cuts. They are a really good team, they are pretty big."

Coach Gillom said the Aggies did not have a tape of the team since it is a foreign team and they would have to rely on scouting reports from RTU Klondika's games against the Texas colleges.

RTU Klondika has not fared well thus far. The team has not won yet, losing to TAMU-CC and SFA by less than five points. It wasn't even close against TCU, losing 95-59, and was destroyed by Texas, 93-27.

A&M will still have its hands full however, because of the loss of two players who unexpectedly retired just weeks before the season was set to begin. Alaina Johnson, and Meg Banahan, the Aggies leading scorer, retired, leaving the team with shoes to fill.

"We have come together since then (the players retiring)," Gillom said. "We were a little shocked at first, but we have to change and adjust, and go without them."

A&M will be led by junior point guard Tocarra Williams, who led the Big 12 in steals and assists, and senior forward Kim Moore, who led the Aggies in rebounding.

"We have to score and look good," Gillom said. "I'm really emphasizing defense, I don't want them to score."

A&M is coming off its best season since 1996. The Aggies posted a 13-16 overall record, and a 5-11 conference record, both high marks for wins since Big 12 play began in 1997.

Oakland A's Miguel Tejada wins American League MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Miguel Tejada won his first American League Most Valuable Player award Tuesday, easily beating Alex Rodriguez in a vote that valued a winning season over superior statistics.

The shortstop for the AL West champion Oakland Athletics received 356 points from a panel of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Rodriguez, the shortstop for the last-place Texas Rangers, finished second with 254 points.
