major, lives on campus and expressed concern that UPD officers were concentrated in one location, and for that period of time were unable to respond to other criminal activity on campus.

"You can't control an event like that I guess. Whatever happens, happens," Butters said.

Chris Jamison, a freshman computer science major, said he cannot relate to the behavior of the unruly crowds.

"It's crazy to me, just wild," he said. "I don't know why people act like that."

Wiatt said there are currently no new leads regarding the automobile break-ins late Saturday night or the reported shots in the Reed Arena parking lot early Sunday morning, but UPD is waiting to see if any new information surfaces.

Thirteen vehicles were broken into and various items were reported stolen late Saturday night following the after-party. UPD was called to disperse.

Eight of the reported thefts occurred in the parking lot near to the Hagler building, with four more reported in lot PA 48 and another in PA 46, each located near the Hagler building on Houston Street.

Among the belongings reported stolen were purses, wallets, jewelry, CDs, clothes, shoes and a digital camera.

The party was called off an hour early due to the presence of alcohol, drugs and fighting on the dance floor, Wiatt said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Survivors look for relatives in China quake rubble

BEIJING (AP) — With bloodied hands, survivors dug through rubble and called for their missing loved ones after a powerful earthquake knocked down homes and schools on Monday in western China, officials said. At least 257 people were killed and more than 1,000 injured.

The quake toppled farmhouses on people eating breakfast and schools collapsed on students in Bachu county, near China's mountainous border with Kyrgyzstan, officials said.

Thousands were left homeless and without shelter overnight in 14-degree temperatures. More than 1,000 homes and schools collapsed in Bachu, a town of 30,000 people, officials said.

The government put the quake's magnitude at 6.8, while the U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo., said it was a magnitude of 6.3.

Saddam missed 'final chance,' U.S. seeks U.N. approval for war

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Seeking U.N. approval for war against Iraq, the United States, Britain and Spain submitted a resolution to the Security Council on Monday declaring that Saddam Hussein has missed "the final opportunity" to disarm peacefully and indicating he must now face the consequences.

But France, Russia and Germany, which oppose the military option, circulated an alternative plan to pursue a peaceful disarmament of Iraq through strengthened inspections over at least the next five months. They won immediate backing from China, despite Secretary of State Colin Powell's lobbying efforts with top officials in Beijing on Monday.

The rival positions set the stage for a heated battle over whether the council would back the U.S. and British demand for war now or the French, Russian, and German call for war to be "a last resort."

Getting approval for the U.S.-backed resolution will be a daunting task. To pass, the resolution must have nine "yes" votes and avoid a veto by France, Russia or China. Only Bulgaria is considered a strong bet to support the U.S.-British-Spanish plan.
