Reynolds, Astros top Braves

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) — Shane Reynolds gave up a hit to the first batter he's faced in competition since back surgery last June, but his performance improved after that, and the Houston Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2 Monday.

Leadoff hitter Darren Bragg singled to right field on the first pitch by Reynolds, who expects to hold down the No. 3 spot in the Astros' starting rotation behind Roy Oswalt and Wade Miller.

Reynolds said he had no pain. He pitched three innings with one strikeout, giving up no runs and three hits. "I just look at myself as somebody who needs to come in here and pitch well and prove that my back's healthy and go out there and compete," Reynolds said. "As far as that's concerned, I have everything to prove."

The 34-year-old Reynolds is trying to rebound from back surgery to repair a pinched nerve. The back issue limited Reynolds to only 13 appearances in the 2002 season in which he posted a 3-6 record with a 4.87 ERA. Russ Ortiz went two scoreless innings for the Braves. He had two strikeouts and allowed one hit, to former San Francisco Giants' teammate Jeff Kent.

"I'm just glad he didn't do more damage than a single," Ortiz said. "Today was a good start to where I think I need to be. I started right off with locations. I threw one slider that was down and I threw off-speed pitches where I wanted and fastballs on both sides of the plate. That's what I wanted"

Ortiz had a 14-10 record while pitching for the Giants in 2002, with a 3.61 ERA.

good baseball teams.

"I think it's a plus for any of those teams not in the Big 12 to play us," Johnson said. "There aren't any easy games in our state, very similar to what (teams in) southern California and Florida run into. There isn't a team that is not well prepared."

Johnson will look for Matt Farnum to help the Aggies recoup as the junior righthander will start against UTSA. Farnum is 2-0 for the season and is sporting a 1.42 ERA in more than 12 innings of work and two starts this season.

Farnum only started two games last season after being moved to fill a void in the relief role.

"Matt Farnum kind of had an off year (last year)," Johnson said. "I think we put him in that off year because we needed a short reliever and took him out of the starting role."

FARNUM

UTSA will start senior left-hander Trey Rice, who led the team in wins last season. Rice has started three games for the Roadrunners and is 2-1 with a 3.36 ERA. He also recorded 16 strikeouts in 17 innings of work.

The full pitching staff is returning this season for the Roadrunners, and Rice is one of 11 seniors on the UTSA team, a factor that Corbett believes will help his team make it through its tough schedule.

"We have a more experienced team this year considering that last year we replaced all of the middle positions," Corbett said. "Last year's newcomers were all talented in those respective positions; however, they had not yet played together as a unit."

A&M and UTSA split the two-game season series last year, and the Aggies hold the all-time series lead against the Roadrunners 9-6. The teams will also meet again this season on March 18 at Wolff Stadium.

First pitch is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Olsen Field.

The Aggies will hope to ride the momentum of a win against UTSA as they head to Round Rock to battle the Southwest Texas Bobcats Wednesday at 6 p.m.

will be a good test before his club heads out for a challenging west coast swing.

"You have to play a lot of matches throughout the season, and this will get us ready for some more tough teams as we move on to California after this," Borelli said. "Facing A&M will be a stepping stone as we look to improve before May and the NCAA tournament."

A&M has developed into a solid team just 10 matches into the 2003 season with mature play from freshmen Nicki Mechem and Seva Iwinski. Sophomore Lauren Walker, juniors Roberta Spencer and Jessica Roland and senior Ashley Hedberg have also been dominant early on.

"The big reason we've been so successful is we have girls at every spot who are consistently coming out and playing hard," Ojeda said. "You can see it in practice and it is paying off for our girls. Their focus has been good, and they are excited about becoming better players."

Borelli is in his first year as head coach at TCU after a successful run at the University of Southern California, where he led seven squads to the national championships during his 14-year tenure.

"At TCU we're trying to build a program and take it to another level, and it's a fun process," Borelli said. "I'm excited about playing another team from Texas. Our kids know each other, so facing the Aggies should be a pretty evenly-lev-eled match."

The Aggies were swept out of the first round of the NCAA tournament last year by TCU, and are looking to avenge themselves tonight. With the two teams' histories intact, A&M Head Coach Bobby Kleinecke said he looks forward to the match.

"This is one of those college matches that is fun to play, where you already have a rivalry going into the match," Kleinecke said. "We're both competitive teams, and we are going to have to play well against them to win. We had Sunday off to rest, so Monday (was) our first opportunity to prepare for a well-coached TCU team."

First serve is scheduled for 6 p.m., and the Aggies are looking to improve to 8-3 with a victory tonight.
