

ALISSA HOLLIMON • THE BATTALION

A&M junior Lindsey Wilhelmson picks up one of her eight strikeouts in a complete-game no-hitter against the Kansas Jayhawks last Sunday.

because each one is significant."

The Aggies will have no time to rest on their laurels, however, as they will face a young A&M - Corpus Christi (27-14, 3-3 Big South) team that is looking to come in and spoil the Aggies' return home. For being such a young program, the Islanders have made great progress, holding their own against teams such as Missouri, Texas Tech and Baylor. The Islanders are led by sophomore pitcher Sarah Pauley who has been overwhelming against opposing teams this year.

The Islanders should certainly enter today's double-header well-rested, not having played since April 9. Last Saturday, they were scheduled to host Texas A&M-Kingsville, but the series was cancelled due to a scheduling conflict between the two teams.

The last competition the Islanders saw was the University of Texas-San Antonio three days earlier. A&M-Corpus Christi shut out the visiting Roadrunners, 3-0, in the first of two games before dropping the second 4-2.

In the Islanders' win, Pauley struck out 16 batters, including her 300th of the season.

In the series' second game, Dani Damel pitched two innings for the Islanders before exiting the game. Pauley repaired in a relief role, adding 10 more strike outs, but she was unable to hold on for the lead. She fell to 16-11 on the season with the loss.

A&M-Corpus Christi Head Coach Missy Phillips - Dickerson said that Pauley serves a vital role on her pitching staff.

"Sarah Pauley is a very talented pitcher, and we look to her to anchor our pitching staff," she said. "A&M is a very talented team and it will be very important for us to bring our 'A' game. We are a very young team, but we would like to establish a rivalry with Texas A&M and beating them would help establish that."

A&M Head Coach Jo Evans said she has been impressed with the Islanders this season. "They've got Sarah Pauley who has a 0.52 ERA," Evans said. "Obviously she can really bring it, and when she pitches they have a chance to win. Overall they've done a really good job with a young program. It's good to have a competitive midweek game like this because it keeps us sharp."

Today's first game is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. and will be followed by Game two at 7 p.m. After facing the Islanders, the Aggies will re-enter conference play as they host the Iowa State Cyclones this weekend. In addition, the Aggies will be honoring the five seniors on this year's team for Senior Night in a pregame ceremony before playing Iowa State.
