Toccarra Williams had a career-high nine steals as part of the Aggies' 22 steals that night and will be playing her first game as Big 12 all-time steals leader, a title she earned last Saturday after gaining her 419th steal during the game versus University of Oklahoma.

For the past two games, the Aggies have instituted a press defense, but it is still unclear if the Aggies will continue it during the game tonight.

The Aggies will be led by Williams along with sophomore forward Tamea Scales, who gained a starting spot on the squad after her performance versus Texas in December. Freshman guard Tiffany Jackson and senior forward Stacy Stephens will lead Texas.

"(Stephens) doesn't take any crap," Blair said. "The nine-player rotation (Texas) has is just tremendous. They just don't miss a beat."

Despite not starting, Jackson was the high scorer for Texas last time the two teams played with 15 points. She has since become a starter.

A&M head coach Gary Blair said he looks forward to the opportunity to play such highly ranked teams.

"This is why I am here (at A&M)," Blair said. "I want to play teams in the top 25."

Blair said Texas has a good chance at staying No. 1 and winning the National Championship.

The last time the Aggies played a No. 1 team in women's basketball was December of 1997 when they lost to Tennessee 105-81.

However, he also said that the Aggies have a chance against Texas because of the rivalry that exists between the two schools.

"It is not always decided by who has the best team," Blair said. "It is whoever plays the best that particular day. Who can get their team to rise above, whatever the talent level."

There are still seats left on a charter bus

Big 12 record-holder and Aggie guard Toccarra Williams attempts a steal from OSU guard Deidra Johnson going to the game. The bus, sponsored by the Maroon Club, leaves Reed Arena at 4 p.m. and returns after the game. Seats are $20 and include a snack.

The Aggies have only one conference win this year and are entering one of the most difficult parts of their schedule. Their next three opponents are all top ten teams; No. 1 Texas on Wednesday, No. 7 Texas Tech on Saturday in College Station and No. 9 Kansas State next Wednesday in College Station.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rain postpones Aggie women's softball game

Mother Nature proved too much for the Aggie Softball Field as recent downpours have caused the double-header between No. 18 Texas A&M softball and the University of Houston, originally scheduled for Wednesday at 3 p.m., to be postponed until Wednesday Feb. 18 at 3 and 5 p.m. on the Aggie Softball Field.

The Aggies next game will be against the University of Oregon this Friday at 1:15 p.m. in Phoenix, AZ, in the first of five games they will play this weekend as part of the Fiesta Bowl Tournament.

The Aggies overcame three rain delays to win their home opener last Wednesday versus the University of North Texas. Since the Aggies have gone on to win both their games.

Texas A&M recruit arrested after alleged robbery

Texas A&M football recruit Quentin Gardner was arrested in Tyler Saturday for allegedly robbing two women outside a department store, according to the Dallas Morning News.

He was charged with robbery, a second-degree felony, attempted theft from a person, a Class A misdemeanor and evading arrest, a Class B misdemeanor, according to the article.

Gardner is a senior at Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler. He signed a letter of intent to play football for Texas A&M last Wednesday.

Gardner was a defensive back for Lee and was expected to remain at that position for A&M.

Knight's former house to be sold on Internet

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — A 4,660-square-foot home that once belonged to former Indiana men's basketball coach Bob Knight has been put up for auction on the Internet.

The home, spread across nearly five acres of secluded land in Bloomington, features five walk-in closets, a 546-square-foot study, skylights and a nearly 300 square-foot master bathroom equipped with a "jetted tub" and steam room for two.

A posting on the Internet auction site eBay seeks $397,500 for the home, or more than three times the median value of a home in Bloomington.

Knight, 63, who now coaches at Texas Tech, sold the house to Bloomington resident Scott E. Swaffar in March for $375,000, according to Monroe County property records.

The house, which was built in 1982 and is assessed at $275,000, has four bedrooms and four bathrooms.

The Jan. 23 posting on eBay makes no secret of the home's famous previous owner: "Rare opportunity to live in the house 'The General' lived in for his last 16 years while he was the basketball coach of Indiana University."

Knight was fired from Indiana in September 2000 for what then-school president Myles Brand called his "pattern of unacceptable behavior." Knight had led the Hoosiers to three national championships and 11 Big Ten titles.

Nolan Ryan may work for Houston Astros

HOUSTON (AP) —Now that he's cut ties with the Texas Rangers, Hall of Fame pitcher Nolan Ryan is free to start working again with the Houston Astros.

The possible move makes sense. Ryan already owns the Round Rock Express, which is the Astros' Double-A team and is expected to become a Triple-A team in 2005. He also is co-owner of a Corpus Christi minor league team, which will become the Astros' Double-A team in 2005.

Astros general manager Gerry Hunsicker said Tuesday that Ryan and Astros owner Drayton McLane Jr. have had several conversations about a possible position with the organization.

Ryan has said that he would be able to walk across the parking lot to the Round Rock stadium and be involved. He said it was natural that if he develops a relationship with another club that it would be Houston.

Ryan ended his formal relationship with the Rangers on Monday by deciding not to sign a new personal services contract.

Ryan pitched for the Astros from 1980-88. He was 324-292 with 5,714 strikeouts and a 3.19 ERA in 27 major league seasons with the New York Mets, California, Houston and Texas. The Angels, Astros and Rangers have all retired his jersey.

He spent the final five seasons of his career (1989-93) with the Rangers, throwing the last two of his seven no-hitters and recording his 5,000th career strikeout during that span.

Rice, University of Houston accused of holding parties with strippers for recruits

HOUSTON (AP) — Students from Houston's two Division I-A schools hired topless dancers for parties possibly involving football recruits without the knowledge of the institutions, the head of the company that supplied the strippers said Tuesday.

The purpose of the parties wasn't completely clear, said Steve Lower, president and chief executive officer of Denver-based Hardbodies Entertainment Inc., which has branches in Houston and Las Vegas.

Lower said Tuesday that student-athletes were involved, but later characterized them only as students.

According to NCAA rules on entertaining recruits, a school "may not arrange or permit excessive entertainment," though it doesn't specifically mention what students may or may not do on their own.

The NCAA didn't return a call seeking further clarification.
