Sturdy

to achieve over the next three years of her collegiate career, Sturdy has a quick answer.

"I want us to achieve a top 10 finish at the championships," Sturdy said. "Maybe with some good recruits down the line we could be in the top five before I graduate - that would rock my world."

Those who are closest to Sturdy don't see her as a swimmer with records and awards. Most who have something to say about Sturdy mention her quirky personality, sense of humor and spontaneous nature. Maybe it's those qualities that make this great swimmer seem like just another average college freshman.

Track

hand-off proved costly as it was fumbled and almost dropped; however Nelson said he was pleased with the result.

Freshman sprinter Monique Lee finished in seventh place in the women's 100-meter dash with a time of 11.63 seconds. She has already qualified for regionals in both the 100- and 200-meter events.

A&M redshirt freshman David Phillips placed fifth in the men's 400-meter dash with a time of 48.21 seconds, while sophomore Brian Kelley took eighth place with a time of 48.24 seconds in the same event.

The field athletes were most affected by the poor weather conditions. Senior Josh Ralston finished in fifth place with a throw of 185 feet. Ralston has already qualified for regionals.

"This event served as a good warm-up for the Mt. SAC relays next week," Nelson said.

The Aggies travel to Walnut, Calif., to compete in the Mt. SAC relays next weekend. The relays are one of the largest events of the year and will be a four-day event pitting the Aggies against more than 100 schools. It will be the team's final regular season event until the Big 12 conference meet in two weeks.
